

Lauds Women In War Work

McNutt Says 4,400,000 Will Be on Jobs in Plants by End of This Year.

WASHINGTON.—Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war manpower commission, says that in almost every line "which carries to the enemy reminders of the growing strength of the United Nations, American women workers know there is a sample of their work."

Mr. McNutt and other government and civic leaders joined in praising the role which women are playing in industrial war work. He said that by the end of the year there would be 4,400,000 women in war industries and that the number would increase as the war lengthened.

"In this great productive effort the women of America are working side by side with men," Mr. McNutt said. "They have demonstrated their ability not only by doing light assembly work but highly technical jobs."

Prove Their Ability. Others who praised women workers were Secretary Perkins, Mrs. John Whitehead, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Mary Anderson, director of the women's bureau of the labor department and the Office of War Information.

Secretary Perkins said that thousands of American women were "working efficiently in all parts of the country on war orders and their employment will increase greatly in the coming months." They were showing "high adaptability" for war production along many lines, she said.

The Office of War Information compared the compensations of the American woman war-worker and her counterpart in Germany, showing that American girls were free to decide whether they would or would not marry, and whether they would or would not have a family.

Free to Quit. "The government, hungry for increasing sources of future manpower, for example, is swinging the whip-lash over their private lives demanding, in addition to their own single girls and the production of offspring within 18 months," the OWI said.

"They are free to quit their jobs if they wish; free to join a union of their trade; free to speak their minds on politics, the conduct of the government and of the war; free to read and listen to whatever they wish."

The necessity of paying to women the same wages given to men if both were doing comparable work was emphasized by Miss Anderson. She said that this compensation yardstick was necessary for the morale and stability of all workers.

Women, she said, were eager and willing to do a day's work, "as they have been from the beginning of time," and she predicted that by the end of the war, "women in industry will be a mighty force in running the war."

New Almanach de Gotha. Has a Tough Time of It LONDON.—The Nazis had a hard job in the latest edition of the Almanach de Gotha, once famous for its accurate and detailed information, in sorting out various quinquagennaries and kingdoms without the aid of the Italian soldiers' approach to the latter reference.

The latter reference probably would come as a startling piece of news to Emperor Haile Selassie, who sits on his throne in Addis Ababa, once more.

Jugoslavia appears as Croatia, independent state, and Montenegro reappears after 24 years as a monarchy, but with no name for its king. Wang Ching-wei, the puppet prime minister at Nanking, is recognized for the first time by the Germans, but at the same time the Almanach includes the names of envoys accredited to Chungking.

Mexico Raises Army of Guerrilla Rough Riders MEXICO CITY.—Plans to raise a guerrilla army of a nation-wide scale, with fighters trained in the school of Pancho Villa, the noted leader, were announced by Antonio Jimenez, head of the newly formed "Legion of Mexican Guerrilla Fighters."

Formation of the legion has been approved with "deep satisfaction" by the Mexican president. Jimenez said his plan is to organize units of the legion in all parts of the country and establish a system of rapid communication which will permit quick mobilization in a given emergency.

Firefighting Is Just Like Charity in East SALISBURY, MD.—Firemen have been kept busy at home. Lightning struck the Salisbury fire department building, tearing out a portion of the brick front and damaging the interior of the building. Firemen, scurrying to answer a call, found a blaze in their own building. Damage was estimated at $1,000, according to investigators.

Shun Gadgets to Save Fuel, Advice Experts Say Such Devices Are Not Reliable.

NEW YORK.—Beware of the salesman who may knock at your door offering a "thrifty little device," guaranteed to cut your fuel bill in half, make your coal burn twice as hot.

This is the warning issued by the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers in response to numerous queries as to the efficiency of "gadgets" alleged to cure all heating elements and solve all fuel problems.

Dr. R. M. Wood, chairman of the society's war service committee, which is sponsoring a national fuel conservation campaign, warned the homeowning public that "these devices should not be accepted at face value."

"Cure-all devices for which unheard-of claims are made should be looked upon with a skeptical eye. You have the advice of a competent and responsible heating expert on their efficiency and practicability," Dr. Wood said.

According to Dr. Wood, several "solutions" guaranteed when applied over your coal to make it produce impossible quantities of heat already have been made an appearance since government warnings of a fuel shortage.

Dr. Wood said that if homeowners will follow the ten suggestions advanced by the society for conservation, the shortage of this winter should not prove a serious handicap in heating in spite of the threatened 25 per cent cut in fuel supplies.

Major of these suggestions, he said, is installation of storm windows and weather stripping, insulation and reconditioning of heating plants to obtain a maximum of efficiency in operation.

500 New Vessels Join British Naval Forces LONDON.—More than 500 warships of all classes have been added to the British fleet since last August, it was revealed recently by H. C. Ferry, BBC naval commentator.

Pointing out that new warships are rolling into the water on an average of one every other day, Ferry declared that British and Dominion shipyards have increased production tenfold over peacetime figures.

Ferry said that these 500 ships, some 100 were ordered or under construction when war broke out. The others are entirely new, and many of them have included radical changes in design and building which have resulted from lessons learned in the early stages of the war.

In one class of warship alone, destroyers, of which we're told we can't ever have enough, British and Dominion shipyards have already delivered no less than 180 in the last 20 months.

"But that is only part of the story," he continued. "On top of this tenfold increase in destroyer production, the yards have been able to turn out 100 corvettes."

"This is a part of Britain's all-out effort to build up a fleet which is said to be the largest in the world," Ferry pointed out.

Italians Get Notes to Apply for Prison Camp MELBOURNE.—Australian air-men back from North Africa told how Italian soldiers approached Australian forces and presented notes inscribed "Take me prisoner."

Scores of Italians tried to clamber aboard a Royal Australian air force wagon, they said, but there was no room for many. So the Australian driver handed out notes to the rest, reading, "This is an Italian prisoner; take him somewhere," and sent them back toward the Allied lines without escort.

On another occasion, the Australians said, an Italian officer landed his plane at Matruh, then in Allied hands, and said, "Here's my plane. I'm finished with this war of helping out Germany on top."

Finds Deposits of Mica and Feldspar in Woods RAYMOND, N. H.—Cousin Smith bought a 75-acre woodlot some three miles outside this village, but lack of the difficulty in carrying them, it would be some time before the stand of timber would prove of any value to the owner. However, in prospecting over the area, Smith discovered large deposits of mica and feldspar. He's already signed a remunerative contract with a mining company for rights to the land and expects the return will be higher than if it simply returned cord wood.

Two Sets of Dads and Sons in Army Same Day COLUMBUS, OHIO.—Two sets of fathers and sons were inducted into the army here at Fort Hayes.

Harvey Hale, 22, and his father, Frank J. Hale, 44, and Paul and his father, 20, and his father, Ger. Longaberger, 41, were the two sons.

Christmas Play To Be Repeated In Connecticut

This year marks the 31st performance of the play, "Holy Night"—the first having been in 1912. A family affair, three months of the original cast, besides sons and grandsons of others, are taking part in the 1942 performance.

The villagers don't take their acting, and the play itself, in a light or casual manner. Even though it takes but one hour, the play is rehearsed over and over again, year after year. The first rehearsals begin just after Thanksgiving when costumes are taken from the attic, and players begin to drop around in the evenings.

When the play was first given, it was held at the town hall which had been used for the purpose.
